ABOUT ME

I've always had a deep interest in computer science, fueled by my natural curiosity and analytical mindset. Create something useful, help others by utilizing software and code is my dream job and i will not quit. From web development to cloud computing and machine learning as my long term goals. I will forge my career path in the dynamic realm of cyberspace. While I've pursued a career in the hospitality industry as a bartender and barista my passion for technology and how it works drives me forward.
